WHITE SLAYER FALLS INTO PIT HE DUG FOR PARTNERS

Jake Potowski of the Many Names, in Federal Charge Here as Result of Fine and Intricate Series of Results

Jake Potowski, one of whose many aliases is Nick Tollens, dug a deep pit for his partners in a white slavery enterprise and then fell in on top of them. He is in the county jail awaiting transportation to San Francisco. He was brought in from Douglas last night by United States Marshal Joe Dillon who will leave with him for the coast today or tomorrow.

One of the partners of Tollens is under indictment in El Paso on information furnished by Tollens in the way of revenge, and as a result of the disclosure a wealthy citizen of Seattle, a former sheriff of that county, has also been indicted.

The trio had for some time been engaged in white slavery in Seattle and as a result of the disclosure a wealthy citizen of Seattle, a former sheriff of that county, has also been indicted.

came lost on the way. She fell into the hands of secret service officers who gathered the story of her adventures from her and then set out to hunt for the man who had misled her. He was captured and is now in jail in Seattle.

But this incident is somewhat apart from the affairs of Tollens and his partners. In connection with their regular industry, and as a part of it, they were conducting an assignment house at Seattle. Tollens and his partner, who is now at El Paso turned the house over to the former sheriff and started by boat with two of the inmates to the south. They landed at Los Angeles where Tollens' partner, thinking Tollens was not sufficient profit in the business for two, "shook" Tollens and turned a deaf ear to his proposition to cut things "fifty-fifty."

With the two girls he went to El Paso and Tollens followed him and squealed. He was arrested and indicted in the United States court there. Thereupon he turned upon Tollens and made the disclosures that resulted in the indictment of the latter in San Francisco.

Tollens was about as thoroughly a disgusted individual as has ever been offered the hospitality of the Maricopa county jail. His reflection that his predicament was the result of his own planning was not relieved by the fact that he was clad in heavy winter clothing which his native people in Phoenix at this time of the year.

MARICOPA IN TAX CONTEST

Valuations on Irrigated Lands and City Lots Form Bone of Contention in Tax Conference; Local Members Return

The board of supervisors and Clarence L. Standage, clerk returned yesterday afternoon from Prescott where they had been in attendance upon the state tax conference composed of the boards and assessors of the various counties and the members of the state tax commission. The object of such conferences is to compare the tax rolls of the several counties and to bring out suggestions for the removal of such inequalities as may be found to exist. The conference was in session a week.

Maricopa county furnished the chief bone of contention, the assessment of rather the action of the county board of equalization on the assessment of city lots and irrigated lands in this valley. The supervisors sitting as a board of equalization had cut the assessment on these classes of property twenty per cent, on the ground that the valuation by the assessor had been based upon an inflated value which had since undergone some puncturing.

County Assessor Homer who took part in the conference stood by his original assessment and he was sustained by a majority of the members of the conference. A few days ago a resolution was adopted by the conference requesting the state tax commission to sustain the assessor as to the assessment of irrigated lands. This was opposed by the Maricopa county board and was not supported by the members from Coconino county. On Saturday a similar resolution was adopted by the conference with respect to the valuation of city lots in this county.

Except as to these two classes of property the assessments of the various counties were found to be fairly uniform.

MASTER TO CONDUCT SOME ECONOMY TESTS

Beginning August 1st, the Master Carburator Company will conduct economy tests throughout the United States. These tests will be in charge of the distributing agencies in the various states. Locally the tests will be under the supervision of C. D. Messner, Arizona distributor. The tests are to follow uniform rules, and the same conditions will apply to the tests in all sections of the country. Their purpose is to take the care of any one that desires; they will use one gallon of gasoline, testing the mileage with a carburetor on the machine at the time. They will then place on the car a Master Carburetor and test the mileage with one gallon of gasoline, using the same roads, the same speed and the same general conditions. Mr. Messner advises that gasoline will be furnished free, and the car left in the same state as found after the contest has been completed.

The local distributor says he will be glad to try out the tests for anyone that believes he has a highly proficient carburetor as he will for any car owner that is getting a low efficiency from his carburetor, and who would like to ascertain just how much more mileage it is possible to get with the same car from a Master Carburetor.

Mr. Messner reports the Master Carburetor business flourishing locally and that many of the Phoenix tourists are equipping with Masters before they leave on their vacation trips because they are assured that they will have no carburetor trouble regardless of mud, dust or altitude.
